COVID Update #23

Dear Emmaus Families,

As you all know by now, as per the Premier's announcement, our school will be closed for the next six days – except for offering care to the children of essential workers. There will be no learning set for Thursday and Friday this week. We are still awaiting a formal definition of an 'essential worker', however, the Premier listed a number of occupations and we understand that it will be those workers who need to travel to/from work.

I have been asked to organise a skeleton staff for the next six days. Staff have now commenced preparing remote learning which will commence Monday, 23rd November. More information will come home tomorrow about the structure/platform for this learning for each year level.

Over the next six days, to minimise as far as possible, the number of staff on site, the Front Office will be closed. Calls and emails will be diverted and answered off site. One leadership staff member will be on-site each day and OSHC will be offered each morning and afternoon – only for the children of essential workers – who need to travel to/from work.

I will continue to communicate regularly with you all, via email. These updates will also be posted to our school website for you to check at any time.

I appreciate your patience in the face of such uncertainty. I hope we can all count our blessings – I know we can count on each other!

We're all in this together.
